It will feature several guest speakers, who will be announced in the coming weeks. A special opening ceremony will occur at the spectacular Branson Landing Wednesday evening, 17 August, at 6:30pm.

"The development of the National Youth Baseball Convention is key to the vision of Youth Baseball Network," states Gil Vieira, founder and CEO of Youth Baseball Network, a marketing and online media company. "We're pleased to be working with several major youth baseball organizations, Positive Coaching Alliance, The Baseball Project, Radisson Hotel, and the City of Branson to conduct this educational and very important event for the Youth Baseball Industry."

The convention occurs during 'championship week' in Branson. The YBN National Championship features the 12U National Champions from American Amateur Baseball Congress (AABC), Amateur Athletic Union (AAU), Continental Amateur Baseball Association (CABA), Dizzy Dean Baseball (DDB), and National Amateur Baseball Federation (NABF). The Missouri State Champions will be crowned via a series of tournaments in Missouri managed by Greater Midwest Baseball (GMB) of St. Louis.

Positive Coaching Alliance (PCA) workshops and seminars combine the latest in sports and educational-psychology and organizational behavior with practical advice from a National Advisory Board of top pro and college athletes and coaches, educators, and organizational leaders. All use the PCA principles at the highest levels of competition. Many workshops are complemented with books by PCA Founder Jim Thompson. Workshops and seminars are highly interactive and engaging, as facilitated by PCA Trainers with deep experience in coaching, sports parenting, and athletic administration.

"Positive Coaching Alliance is excited to be a part of the inaugural YBN National Youth Baseball Convention in Branson," said Jason Sacks, PCA National Director of Business Development. "We are grateful for the opportunity to work with leaders from some of the top baseball organizations in the country, and with coaches and parents from throughout the Youth Baseball Industry."

The umpires' workshop and on-field clinic will be conducted by The Baseball Project, a leading baseball instructional operation featuring Brandon "Pedro" Costales, one of the premier umpires in the Southwest. Pedro studied baseball umpiring mechanics, positioning and rules at Harry Wendelstedt School for Umpires. The Baseball Project was founded in Springfield, MO, and is currently building a new training facility in Branson.

One of the main attractions of the Youth Baseball Convention is its location – Branson.
